Samuel Blachley Webb

There were many Webb men who made their mark of distinction in the Revolutionary War. One of the most notable was Samuel Blachley Webb. In June 21, 1776 he was appointed Aide-de-Camp to General George Washington and later was the Grand Marshal of his inauguration. He wrote to his wife Catherine describing that glorious day:

“I accompanied the President from his lodgings to the Senate room, from thence to St. Paul’s Church and back to his House, thro’ the surrounding shouts of Joy, of the greatest concourse of citizens, that I ever beheld.”

General Samuel Blachley Webb held the Bible when Washington was sworn into office. What led up to that moment was a life of service to his newly forming Country.

Dear Project Members,

I would like to ask that everyone take a minute to do a year end “audit” of their information on the Webb Surname DNA Project website [www.webbdnaproject.org] including the Y-DNA Results Chart and Lineages. If there are any changes or missing details, just send me a quick email to let me know.

I hope some of you have taken up the “Mystery Webb” challenge that can be found on the home page of the website. The challenge is to identify the Webb in the photo with the limited information available and find out as much as possible about her and the Webb family she belongs to. For this challenge all that is known is the subject’s name and where the photo was taken. As members send me what they have found, I will put it up on the website. I hope to someday find this photo a good home with a descendant or other relative. Look for more “Mystery Webb” challenges in the future!

I Wish Everyone a Wonderful Holiday Season!

Eileen

"I accompanied the President from his lodgings to the Senate room, from thence to St. Paul's Church and back to his House, thro' the surrounding shouts of Joy, of the greatest concourse of citizens, that I ever beheld." – S. B. W.

Samuel Blachley Webb was born to Joseph and Mehitable Nott Webb on December 13, 1753 in Wethersfield, Connecticut. His father was a successful merchant in Wethersfield and when his father died, his mother remarried Silas Deane, Continental Congressman and foreign diplomat, with whom Samuel developed a special relationship. At the young age of 21 he served as private secretary to Deane, became a Lieutenant with the Wethersfield Militia and engaged in and was wounded at the Battle of Bunker Hill.

On December 25, 1776, Samuel Blachley Webb accompanied General George Washington on the famed crossing of the Delaware and was wounded in the Battle of Trenton. On December 10, 1777, he commanded an expedition against the British "stores and shipping" at Setauket and Sag Harbor on Long Island and was taken captive by the British. He remained in British custody for three years. He was afforded some freedoms during his captivity and it was during this time that he married his first wife, Elizabeth Bancker on October 20, 1779. Elizabeth died from complications of childbirth while Samuel was travelling from New York to Wethersfield to be with her. He was finally released in a prisoner exchange in January of 1781.

In May of 1781 Samuel Blachley Webb arranged the meeting between General George Washington and Rochambeau that took place at his brother, Joseph Webb's home. This meeting secured French assistance, which ultimately resulted in the Siege of Yorktown and Cornwallis's defeat, and ended the Revolutionary War.

Samuel Blachley Webb left the Continental Army in 1783 as a Brigadier General. He married his second wife, Catherine Hogeboom, on September 5, 1790 and they had nine children, one of whom was James Watson Webb, the prominent New York newspaper editor, publisher and diplomat. Samuel Blachley and Catherine Hogeboom Webb's grandson, General Alexander Stewart Webb, was awarded the Medal of Honor for Gallantry in the Battle of Gettysburg. Samuel Blachley Webb lived in Claverack, New York where he died in the year 1807. General George Washington had called him the "most accomplished gentleman in the army."

Though we do not have representation of a descendant of General Samuel Blachley Webb in the Webb Surname DNA Project, research shows that he should belong to the Jonathan Webb b. 1675 CT Group, and was a descendant of Richard Webb b. 1611 Warwickshire, England.

Arizona

W. T. Webb

The son of Gilbert Webb of Ohio and Almira Taft of Michigan, [W. T. \[Wilford Taft\] Webb](#) was born in Salt Lake City in 1864 and first came to Arizona in January of 1881, locating at Tombstone initially, and then after one year settling in the town of Pima in Graham County where he worked for his father [Chauncey Gilbert Webb] who was a proprietor of a general mercantile store. W. T. Webb worked to increase his business until he became one of the leading businessmen in Arizona. He was president of the Webb-Merrill Commercial Company of Pima, the director of the Bank of Safford, and owner of a small cattle ranch in the Graham Mountains. His father continued to help him in his business ventures and in approximately 1898, his father was the age of 94 years.* W. T. Webb was prominent in politics in Arizona and was one of the local leaders of the Democratic Party. He represented Graham County three times in the state Legislature, and two terms as Mayor of Pima. W. T. Webb married Sarah Burns in 1887, the daughter of Enoch and Elizabeth Burns. W. T. Webb continued to own the home that his grandfather built, the same home where he was born at 452 East Third Street South, Salt Lake City, Utah. W. T. Webb obtained an education at public schools and concluded his formal education at the University of Deseret at Salt Lake City.

*Note: The Portrait and Biographical Record of Arizona, published in 1901, states that W. T. Webb's father, Chauncey Gilbert Webb, who they do not mention by name, was 94 years old. This conflicts with other sources for the birth year of Chauncey Gilbert Webb.

Isaac Webb, Delaware

"...in addition to three matchcoats and four double handfuls of powder and shot from Henry and Robert Bedwel Jr. and Adam Fisher on December 10, 1683. In exchange they received eleven hundred acres along St. Jones Creek. For the same consideration Isaac Webb received on February 19, 1683-4 the tract known as "Shoemaker's Hall" which contained four hundred acres. The last we learn of Petequoque is on May 2, 1688 when he sold to Norton Claypoole one thousand acres of land in Kent County on the St. Jones River "about three miles from the place that Dover town is intended to be built."

Oklahoma

A Standard History of Oklahoma

Joseph B. Thoburn, 1916

"G. O. Webb, M. D. Contemporaneous with the growth and development of Temple has been the residence and professional service of Doctor Webb, who has been in continuous practice at that locality for nearly fifteen years and deserves all the prestige which goes with an old established physician.

Doctor Webb was born at Paragould, Benton County, Arkansas, June 14, 1875. The Webb family is of Scotch-Irish descent, was located in America before the Revolution, and became identified with the pioneer settlement of Tennessee. Doctor Webb's grandfather was John L. Webb, who was born in Tennessee and died at Trenton in the state at the age of seventy-two. He was a planter and slave owner. L. L. Webb, father of Doctor Webb, was born at Trenton, Tennessee in 1838, and from that community removed to Paragould, Arkansas, and in 1877 established the home of the family at Cleburn in Johnson County, Texas, but in 1882 again removed to Mansfield, Texas. In 1902 he came to Temple, Oklahoma, and is now living retired in that town, after a long and active career as a farmer and stock man. He is a democrat, but at the beginning of the Civil War enlisted in the twelfth regiment of Tennessee Infantry, Company C, of the Confederate Army. He was captured in the Battle of Shiloh and was sent to Libby prison and for nearly three years was kept a prisoner by the Federals, until the close of the war. He is a member of the Methodist Church. L. L. Webb married Mary E. Graham, who was born in Arkansas in 1854. Their children are: Etta, wife of J. C. Martin, a farmer at Henderson, Texas; Robert, who is a farmer near Temple, Oklahoma; Dr. G. O.; Lee, a railway employee at Temple; Eva, wife of Ed Burnett, a farmer near Temple.....

...Doctor Webb began his practice at Temple in 1901 practically with the founding of the town, and his business and reputation have grown in proportion to the development of that center of population and surrounding territory. His offices are in the Temple Drug Store on Commercial Street. For...

...In 1903 at Fort Worth, Texas, Doctor Webb married Miss Lena Tatum, whose father was John Tatum, now deceased, a farmer by occupation. Three children have been born to their marriage: Helen, Harold and Agatha...."
